TRANSITION PLANNING 101

A GUIDE TO MAKING THE TRANSITION FROM HIGH SCHOOL TO COLLEGE

Presented by Gina L. Carson, M.Ed., a Special Needs
Teacher turned Disability Services Specialist, and Founder of Effective Success Practices LLC.

The difference between high school and college-level accommodations often surprises students and parents. This course reviews best practices in transition planning to help special education teachers, child study team members, transition specialists, parents and others who work with students with disabilities (SWD), understand the differences between services in high school and post-graduation.

- Participants will gain knowledge of the changes from IDEA to ADA AA.
- Review a point-by-point comparison of high school and college for SWD,
- Identify over 20 realistic transition activities,
- Examine the proper steps to self-identifying in an academic setting after high school, and
- Recognize the importance of student self-advocacy at college and/or the workplace.
